Valued Customer,

And with what seems like the blink of an eye, 2022 is behind us and we look forward to seeing what 2023 holds in store. We are looking closely at our opportunities that came about in 2022, moving forward with better ways to serve each and every customer. Like many of you, we have been challenged with keeping our teams healthy and offices fully staffed, working every day to give you the peace of mind you all deserve. We are committed to ensuring that we meet our service promises and your expectations, from quote through installation. We'd love to hear how we're doing! Don't hesitate to reach out to us at customerservice@seacoastsecurity.com with your comments and suggestions.

A couple of reminders during this winter season; check to ensure your low temps are working properly. If you have been hedging on installing them, there's no time like the present! We are here to guide you through the right system for your home or business.

If you're planning to leave your home for warmer weather, please make sure you test your system before you leave - including your video cameras. Shrubs may have grown and now obstruct your view of what should be watched!

We wish you all a healthy start to 2023.

Introducing SeaView by CHeKT

SeaView Powered By CHeKT provides a new approach to security. The system links security, access control, video analytics and video surveillance systems together to create a comprehensive visual alarm system. When a critical event occurs, an alert is immediately sent to Seacoast Security's UL listed monitoring center. This provides our dispatchers instant access to see and respond to an alarm in real time. SeaView provides the opportunity to detect, deter and apprehend a criminal, all in real time. Conventional IP video systems allow for review of activity that has occurred and been saved on the system and reviewed the next day. Contact us today at 800-654-8800 and ask about SeaView professional video monitoring.

What Our Customers are Saying...

"Brian and Trevor represent your company so very well. They were very friendly and courteous, took great pains to protect my floors and woodwork. They were both very helpful and very smart. I was totally impressed with both of them...In today's world, it's difficult to find fellows of this caliber. They are a pair of aces and it's tough to beat aces." – Maine Customer, T.H.

"One night I was on the road to St. Johnsbury, VT when I received a call from Seacoast Security. It seems that there were tourists from Alabama at my business..looking through the locked glass door at a purse which she had left there earlier. They were desperate. They needed to hit the road! They called Seacoast to see if there was anyone who could come and unlock the place...Seacoast, taking an "above and beyond" approach, made a call to me....I was able to talk to the folks and help them... I want to thank Seacoast folks much. You guys are GREAT!" – Vermont Customer, B.M.
